Brantwood Road has been laid out as part of an Edwardian estate development making use of the Richard's Cottages site for the access and junction to the High Road. The application site occupies the central area of an open site on the Brantwood Road frontage.

1930s

The terraced housing to the east on the north side of Brantwood Road has been developed and the site with the bungalow built in 1925 is shown as today with a sideways beside the flank elevation of the terrace and the bungalow not quite orthogonal on the plot. The remaining part of the plot on the north side of Brantwood Road to the west has been developed as a commercial yard, with a large shed beside the road and five smaller garages at the rear.

The map and photographs indicate that the commercial yard with sheds at No.5 Brantwood Road to the west was used for parking lorries. A brick wall separates Nos.5 and 7. Land on the south side of Brantwood Road is in industrial/commercial use. To the north the terraced houses of Waggon Lane have been cleared and replaced by prefab housing indicating that the area had suffered bomb damage during WW2.
