

Made-to-order timber windows and doors

Supplying timber windows and doors to the construction industry for more than sixty years. Lomax + Wood work closely with architects, developers and private individuals nationwide to deliver quality timber products to budget and on time.

Performance and Peace of Mind

Performance and Peace of Mind Quality runs throughout Lomax + Wood's products and services. Chris Wood's family has been in the timber window industry for over 60 years with his father Dennis Wood starting the original family business. With many decades in the industry Chris Wood can be said to have sawdust running through his veins.

The quality of the products begin with in-house designs and extensive testing in the UK and abroad to combine performance with traditional or contemporary sightlines, as required for each project. Lomax + Wood have developed their own details and techniques based on extensive research, allowing them to produce some of the finest examples of fenestration in Great Britain. Not all windows and door construction is the same, assembly is critical and it is only after many years of experience that all these factors can be brought together to produce top quality products.

The end result is a range of made-to-order timber windows and doors sold with a belief in individual service, quality and long term relationships.

Expertise and Conservation

Lomax + Wood are specialists in the design and detailing of products for the conservation market. We have supplied projects ranging from a Victorian terraced house, a country farm house in Wiltshire up to a six hundred bespoke box sash windows for an historic London landmark building. All our products use the latest treatments and finishes to provide durable low maintenance windows and doors. Lomax + Wood are members of the British Woodworking Federation and FENSA.

Our in house knowledge and customer service means we are repeatedly specified by architects, developers and contractors. With many orders also being received through private recommendation.

The Kensington & Chelsea Flush Casement Window

Traditionally detailed with a sash that fits flush with the frame and thus recreating the appealing appearance of casement windows before the introduction of the stormproof casement.

The sashes can be operated with friction hinges or traditional butt hinges depending on the project requirements. Designed with performance and style in mind with detail paramount to producing a product that will enhance any new build or refurbishment. Factory double-glazed, fully weather-stripped.

Showrooms and samples

The best place to view full size products is in our showrooms in Essex, please see the website for details. The showroom allows you to try out and feel the operation of French doors, casements and sash windows at a realistic size.

Alternatively we are happy to see you with samples suitable for a car boot, which by their nature are restricted in size.

Technical advice & guidelines

As timber window and door specialists we are here to take your calls and advise you as to any aspect of fenestration requirements. We are also happy to visit site, your office or your home to talk through a scheme and discuss the best possible solutions.

Site survey

For extra peace of mind, Lomax + Wood will carry out a site survey and therefore take full responsibility for the product sizes. We will also review the specification to ensure that it is fully compliant with current building regulations. Full structural surveys are only available on receipt of an order. However, our sales team are happy to complete an initial site measure to endeavor to produce an accurate quotation prior to an order being placed.

Installation

A supply and fit service is available to suit your requirements with Bronze, Silver or Gold options available.

Sustainability

Lomax + Wood are committed to sourcing from sustainable sources, to this end we have worked hard to achieve FSC® Chain of Custody which is deemed by many to be an environmental gold standard. This work was undertaken in partnership with BM TRADA who are also deemed to be a mark of quality in our industry.

FSC® Chain of Custody is not the same as a timber window and door supplier providing FSC® documents for the timber alone. The Lomax + Wood FSC® Chain of Custody ensures the product is FSC® from source through to installation, if Lomax + Wood site fitting is specified, which is within the scope of our certification.
