Dear Ms Lazou,

Thank you for the email below, and I am sorry to hear about the Laburnum tree.

We are satisfied, under a Five- Day Notice for the tree to be removed and made safe.

Please take this email as permissions to proceed with the works.

There is a duty to replace dead and dying trees in a Conservation Area. If you would inform us of the suitable species that you intend to re plant with we can make a note.

Regards,

Daniel Monk

Dear Mr. Monk and Mr. Fraser,

I have been given your contact details by Haringey Customer Services Department.

We live in the Fortis Green Conservation Area and a laburnum tree in our front garden close to the road has been pushed over/ partially uprooted by a large grab lorry which mounted the pavement and backed into it, when making a delivery to a neighbouring property.

Workmen from next door have pruned back the branches to prevent the tree from posing a hazard to passers by. The trunk and lower branches are still in situ, but sadly we do not think that the tree can be saved. I understand that we need planning permission to remove the rest of the tree and should be grateful for your advice on this. Our address is 10 Western Road, N2 9HX.

Attached are some photos which we took this morning after the accident.

Yours sincerely,

Elizabeth Lazou
