

I don't want to reduce the height of the tree, or crown reduction on one side, I want cut back the overhanging branches that are moving over to my outbuilding and am worried about eventual contact. It also blocks out all sun (when it's here).

These branches cover the garden (once the leaves come out), very hard to grow anything or maintain any grass. This tree overwhelms my garden in full bloom.

A crown reduction to reduce the length of the branches on that side, please see pics with yellow highlight.

I guess if the branches can be reduced by 10ft. / 3m.

Hope this helps, and let me know if you need anything else.
