MATERIAL PLANNING CONSIDERATIONS

Design and Impact on the character and appearance

DPD Policy DM12 'Housing Design and Quality' states that extensions or alterations to residential buildings, including roof extensions will be required to be of a high, site specific, and sensitive design quality, and respect and/ or complement the form, setting, period, architectural characteristics, detailing of the original building, including external features such as chimneys, and porches. High quality matching or complementary materials should be used appropriately and sensitively in relation to the context. DPD Policy DM1 'Delivering High Quality Design' requires development proposals to relate positively to their locality, while Local Plan (2017) Policy SP11 requires the highest standard of design that respects local context and character and historic significance, which is equally supported by London Plan (2021) Policy D6.

The proposal comprises of external insulation of the front, side, and rear of the property, the submitted drawings indicate that existing render face is to be covered with Stone Wool and Silicone Render Finish and the proposed depth is 125mm. The proposed materials would be in keeping with the materials used in construction of buildings within the locality where there is a variety materials used, and where the final colour will match the existing rendered finish.

The London Plan sets out detailed policies in relation to energy efficiency, renewable energy, climate change and water resources. Local Plan Policy SP4 promotes and requires all new developments to take measures to reduce energy use and carbon emissions during design, construction and occupation. Low- and zero-carbon energy generation are required with all new development, specifically to achieve a reduction in predicted carbon dioxide emissions through on-site renewable energy generation. Noting that the subject site is not located within a conservation area, and the proposal would involve external wall insulation the energy efficiency of the building, the proposed alterations are acceptable.

Conclusion

The proposal is considered acceptable as it would sufficiently preserve the character and appearance of the host property and the area, and would improve the energy efficiency of the building.

All other relevant policies and considerations, including equalities, have been taken into account. Planning permission should be granted for the reasons set out above. The details of the decision are set out in the RECOMMENDATION.
