Comments: I have lived here for a few years there has always been a sign to the front of the practice ever since i moved in, recently the sign has been replaced. I fully support the new sign as it enhances and its black colour blends in with the existing claddind. I live directly above the sign and when it is switched on it makes no difference to me it has a vey subtle light. When switched on the light from the sign does not make any difference to the street as the street is very well lit by the numerous street lamps and the garden centre lamps opposite. I was consulted by the owner of the surgery with regards to the sign and its design before it was put up, and was and am fully supportive and happy with the sign.
